

Keeping the city green

About 10,000 to 13,000 trees in Singapore could be removed over the next 15 years to make way for urban developments. NParks plans to replace all these trees at least one-for-one.

NOTE: These developments, while not a comprehensive list, also include 700km of cycling paths and 200km of sheltered walkways.