

Key findings on marriage and parenthood

Singaporeans' views on what would make the country a better place for families, from more supportive bosses and workplace culture to sharing the responsibility of parenting.

AT HOME

3 in 4 respondents said that:

domestic responsibilities should be shared between spouses.

both spouses have equal responsibility in making key household decisions.

AT WORK

Factors which respondents think are very important in helping meet their work and family responsibilities:

92% chose having supportive bosses and understanding colleagues.

3 in 4 respondents agreed that work-life harmony is more important to them than getting a promotion.

However, only 45% of respondents said they are able to meet their work, family and personal commitments.

78% chose flexible work arrangements.
